SUBMISSION CALL GUIDELINES

WE WELCOME YOUR SUBMISSIONS.

Before we begin, please make sure you have read the submission call.

SUBMISSION RULES:

1. Work submitted must be creative non-fiction, non-fiction or autobiographical.

WORD COUNT AND FORMAT:

- Word count must be between 1500 – 4000 words, double-spaced, with page numbers.
- Must use Times New Roman and 12-point font.
- Please include your name, email address and phone-number.

DEADLINE for Commitment of Interest: Wednesday, June 30th by 11:59 PM EST.

Please fill out the commitment of interest form and email to kaur'sreimagine@gmail.com.

DEADLINE for Final Story Draft: Tuesday, October 31st by 11:59 PM EST.

WHO IS A GOOD FIT?

- Are you comfortable for a journey to find a true narrative?
- Are you comfortable playing around with writing -- trying new ideas out?
- Are you comfortable working with a team of editors?
- Are you comfortable with checkpoint deadlines to meet the story draft deadline on October 31st?
- Are you comfortable collaborating on story creation?

If you can say yes to some or most of these questions, then you are a good fit. The “I’m not sure” responses disappear once you jump in and commit to the adventure.

If you respond with a definite no to all these questions, then we hope we can engage you as an important reader of the collection.

We will also be holding community workshops for those who want to co-write with community sisters. There will be some learnings, some writing prompts, and lots of good energy!

Thanks for taking time to be thoughtful.

Final submissions do not guarantee publication, but our project is committed to honoring every individual's story.
